

This antique scrapbook was originally assembled by one of my great grandparents. As a child I had seen this scrapbook but was never allowed to look at it. When my stepfather passed away back in July of 1997 I found the scrapbook in the attic of his home when taking care of his affairs. I spent hours in fascination looking at this scrapbook and I am still finding myself being amazed at the little things I am finding in the images. I am turning 60 in November of this year and this scrapbook was well before my time. The original scrapbook was boxed up and put into storage until September of this year (2014) making some of the images in the book over 100 years old. The last dated images identified being no newer than from 1933. When I happened upon the box that the scrapbook was in, the idea came to me to publish the scrapbook's content to Kindle in volume sets to keep the file sizes down. This is the first book in the series and the total volumes to be published will be from 5 to 7 volumes total. Desert Publishing (desertpublishing.com) will make available the location of the original image collection photographed in high resolution which will be placed on CD's for those that would be interested in adding antique images to scrapbooks, greeting cards, and other media. The original scrapbook may be made available too, but not certain about that yet. The images added to this Kindle book were reduced in size to fit on the pages and formatted to the size requirements of this book format. Many of the images would easily fit on a full sized sheet if printed. The actual images in the scrapbook were carefully hand cut and glued down with what appears to be hand made glue like that used in the old days for putting up wallpaper. The actual scrapbook has American flags stamped on many of the pages and a lot of those the stamps had to be hand inked as they are two color stamps and are done in a red and a blue ink and could not have been done with multiple stamps as I have looked at the stamps with magnifying lenses and placement of the blue and red fields are just to perfect to be from separate stamps. Many of the images in the scrapbook in its original form were also found loose as there simply were not enough pages to glue more pictures down to them. I often wonder if the person who made the scrapbook had wanted to do another one but simply did not have the money to purchase another scrapbook to make one as it was during the great depression time period.
